SMART LINES FOR NEW TAILOR- MADES.

In studying the newest fashions de-signed for Fall wear one is impressed by the continued suppression of hip curves as against the defining of the waist line and the emphasizing of the shoulder and bust curves. A very re-fined type of tailored frock is shown here, carried out in Italian prown broadcloth. The front of the jacket is costume calls for 4% yards 54-inch ma- bany, N. Y., on the return trip.

A glance at the cutting guide will show what careful maneuvering is necessary to use the material to the best advantage. Today's lesson deals exclusively with the cutting of the coat, for the model is well adapted to separate wear and may be carried out in any material. The circular skirt section of the coat comes first and is laid on a lengthwise thread of the material, the straight edge running along the selvage edge of the cloth. Along the lengthwise fold is laid the back, and next the underfacing, followed by collar, cuff and belt. Between the front and the upper sleeve section which are placed near the selvage of the goods and the sections of the pattern laid along the lengthwise fold, the trimming piece, undersleeve and pocket are In this way there is practically o waste, and the small pieces of material that are left can be used to cover

GIRLS WHO MAKE UNWISE CHOICE OF FRIENDS

Thou truest friend man ever knew, Thy constancy I've tried; Where all were false, I found thee My counselor and guide."

What girls and young women are there who do not take the best hour of evenings and occasionally slip away afternoons in quest of friends to chat and gossip with? At weekly gatherings, dance parties and bright enter-tainments girls chum together, each of whom usually has some laughable new experience, of a new flame's admira-tion for her, or takes advice as to how some disappointing episode will turn out or can be bettered.

From girlhood days to young womanhood's realm, bosom friends cling girl to ask a boy to call again if his closely and some too intimately, company is desired, after seeing her claiming a control over confiding ones that amounts to fascination. What they do not find out from these unwise confidents is not worth knowing, let alone keeping their secrets intact. Girls are at times drawn to one aner in uncontrollable will power.

> It isn't the easiest thing in the world to find a number of best friends alike, appearing, brilliant, push-forward perhad known you for a lifetime, and who throw out flattering compliments whenever you meet. Girls had better stay at home and prudently take plenty of time to consider wisely the ideals neither head nor heart for the unwritten pathos of others. Making friends is well enough in its place and when people are thrown together. Carefully they should pick their bosom friends if they regard having peace and good will instead of getting into trouble in the future. Gladly turn to those you have met whom you can learn to love better, who improve on acquaintance, who look on the bright side with you instead of constantly presenting un-favorable predictions, if you would be happy.

Dear Miss Libbey :-

Two of us girls are so interested we ask your advice. What answer is a girl to give a boy when he asks to see her home? Should a girl return to her house with a youth she is not much acquainted with? Is it proper for a home? How ought a girl to express herself after returning home from an entertainment with him? Wishing you may advise very soon. Thanks.
